

So, from the graph we can reach a conclusion that the winning strategy for the first player is picking 1 stick at the beginning because if the first player picks 1 stick at the beginning, the possibility of winning this game is 100% for the first player. And, if the he or she picks 2 sticks, the possibility is 50% for the first player.